If P(E) is the probability that an event will occur, which of the following must be false?